Everyone is gearing up for an eventful new year. We have the National Leadership Conference hosted by Texas ENA in Dallas, January 29-30, 2026. In February, we have our annual virtual CEs for Texas Nurses Courses to meet Texas licensure requirements on February 25, 2026. More information be posted soon on our website: <https://www.sanantonioena.org/education/>

We are very excited to be hosting, along with Methodist Healthcare, a CEN Review Course, May 7- 8, 2026, presented by nationally recognized, Justin Milici. Rounding up the summer, we are hosting our 14th Annual Concepts of Emergency and Critical Care Nursing Conference on August 27, 2026, at a new location at the Drury Inn and Suites at I-10 West and Loop 1604. Please plan for the National EN2026 Conference in Phoenix, September 28 - October 1, 2026. See the ENA website for more information at: <https://www.ena.org/events/emergency-nursing-2026>

We will continue our monthly business meeting on the 2nd Tuesday of each month, locations to be posted on the SAENA website at <https://www.sanantonioena.org/meetings/> . Dinner is provided. All meetings are available virtually and can be accessed from the meeting page. As one of our primary missions for SAENA, we not only provide outstanding conferences, but also education opportunities at many of our scheduled meetings. All we need is you!!

We had an amazing 2025. Please join me in making 2026 even better!!

Sincerely,

Leslie Hinson, MSN, RN, CNL, CEN

<https://www.healio.com/news/cardiology/20251209/the-battle-against-resistant-hypertension-new-guidelines-drugs-and-treatment-options>
  1. Key takeaways:
    - Lifetime risk for hypertension is up to 90% among U.S. adults.
    - Updated guidelines and a pipeline of novel drugs may help to address the growing prevalence of resistant hypertension.
    - American Heart Association/American College of Cardiology/Multisociety Guideline for the Prevention, Detection, Evaluation and Management of High Blood Pressure in Adults published in August
- Hemorrhage Control in Pelvic Fracture

(Washington Update: December, 2025)

- Department of Education Declines to Consider Nursing a 'Professional Degree'
As part of the implementation of the One Big Beautiful Bill Act, the Department of Education recently released a proposal to enact new borrowing limits on federal student loans for graduate students.

ENA calls on the Department of Education to explicitly include nursing in its definition of "professional degrees" within this proposal. If the proposal is approved as currently written, nurses pursuing advanced degrees could be limited in the amount they may borrow in federal student loans.

According to the proposal, beginning in July 2026, federal loans for students in graduate degree programs will be capped at $20,500 per year, with a $100,000 lifetime limit. Students in programs designated as "professional degrees" would be capped at a higher limit of $50,000 per year, with a $200,000 lifetime limit.

Previous loan borrowing limits on graduate degrees were essentially set at the full cost of obtaining the degree, something the administration argued was leading universities to charge high costs for degrees that offered limited return on that investment. A Proposed Rule is expected in early 2026, when the public will have an opportunity to comment on the changes. Watch for more information from ENA about how to submit comments when that period opens.

Excluding advanced nursing degrees from the “professional degrees” designation could discourage interested candidates from pursuing education they might not be able to afford without a federal student loan. Limiting the number of graduate-prepared nurses could complicate an already existing shortage of nurses, those at the stretcherside as well as nursing school faculty. ENA recently signed onto two letters opposing this proposal, which can be read here: <https://www.ena.org/advocacy/federal-letters-support>

- Funding Restored After Shutdown Ends, However Questions Remain

The November agreement to reopen the U.S. government restored funding to a wide array of federal programs and offices including critical nursing research at the National Institutes for Health, while continuing the processing of nursing education grants and scholarships through Title VIII programs.

However, questions remain related to subsidies that helped lower the cost of insurance in the ACA marketplaces, which had been implemented as part of pandemic relief. Without these subsidies, insurance premiums for millions of people will skyrocket. The Kaiser Family Foundation estimates these increases will affect people across income levels. Most notably, individuals below 250 percent of the federal poverty level could see a fourfold rise in their premiums. The Commonwealth Fund reports as many as 5 million people will lose coverage in 2026, with millions more facing much higher premiums. If primary and preventive care is unaffordable, more people may put off care until they need emergency treatment, adding additional strain to many EDs that are already overcrowded and undercompensated. Senate Republicans have promised a vote to extend the subsidies as early as this week, although it is not clear if the House is prepared to schedule a similar vote.

<https://www.kff.org/affordable-care-act/aca-marketplace-premium-payments-would-more-than-double-on-average-next-year-if-enhanced-premium-tax-credits-expire/>

<https://www.commonwealthfund.org/publications/issue-briefs/2025/oct/expiring-premium-tax-credits-lead-340000-jobs-lost-2026>

Despite this temporary relief, Congress will need to act on FY26 funding again before Jan. 30, when the current continuing resolution expires. Options include passing the remaining appropriations bills, enacting another short-term continuing resolution or passing an omnibus that essentially funds the government for the remainder of the fiscal year, typically with few opportunities for increases to individual programs. Without action, there is risk of another partial government shutdown.

Texas Board of Nursing - Continuing Education

Requirements for RNs

All Texas RNs are reminded to review the Texas Board of Nursing's mandatory continuing education re-licensure requirements located on the website at https://www.bon.texas.gov/education\_continuing\_education.asp#D

There are several factors which must be kept in mind when reviewing the information on the website:

- Course content must meet the stipulation requirements of the Texas Board of Nursing
- The time frame or licensure cycle for repeating the requirement differs from course to course
- The RN's practice type and/or 'float unit' may determine if a nurse needs to take a course
- Advance Practice RNs (APRN) have additional course requirements than RNs
- Course requirements are not automatically met with certification
- Additional education requirements may be added at any time. These requirements are announced in the Texas Board of Nursing's Bulletin.

Current RN Requirements:

- Forensics Evidence Collection
- Older Adult and Geriatric Care
- Nursing Jurisprudence and Ethics
- *Human Trafficking Prevention

**Must be an approved Texas HHS course.*

Current APRN Requirements:

- Pharmacotherapeutics
- Tick-Borne Diseases
- *Pain management and prescription of opioids
- *Prescription of opioids
- Authorization to receive information from the Texas Prescription Monitoring Program

\ All APRNs with prescriptive authority authorized to prescribe opioids*

Note: In 2025, the Texas Legislature passed a bill requiring education on nutrition/metabolic health to be added to the mandatory continuing education for Texas nurses. Specific requirements for this course: the number of hours of education required, which nurses need to have the education, and how often it needs to be taken will be finalized by late 2026. Members will be notified by the SAENA as soon as the requirements are published by the Texas Board of Nursing.
